Manson Supreme Anchors

- Only production boat anchor in the world that is Lloyds Register Approved as Super High Holding Power
- The shank is built from high tensile steel and is more resistant to bending under load. This means more weight and surface area in the fluke
- The fluke is built with a reinforced laminate toe which provides an extremely strong forward section where most of the load is concentrated
- A sharpened spearhead ensures great penetration into the seabed and also concentrates all of the weight of the anchor onto a small area encouraging the anchor to dig and set immediately
- The roll bar allows the anchor to self-right and instead of a heavy tip, the weight can be distributed to the load bearing fluke
- Made to fit with all standard bow roller fittings and will self launch from all bow rollers
- Separate shackle attachment slot for rocky seabeds
